

Yoyo Christmas Angel Pattern:

This project will take less than 1/4 of a yard of one fabric or many scraps of fabric in multiple sizes. See the attached pattern pieces for your circles. Cut two of each size circle. Cut 2 pieces of tulle 4.5"X 3.5". Scissors, matching thread, needle you can thread, 12" of 1/8" ribbon, 1/2" head bead.

Step 1: On the right side of the fabric sew a hand running/baste stitch around each circle and pull it tight to make a yoyo. You do this by making a larger size knot on the end of your single thread and take small stitches about 1/8" from the edge. Tie your thread off after you pull it tight and tie your thread off. There will be a raw edge in the middle of the yoyo.

Step 2: Thread your needle putting both ends through the eye, leaving loop at the end. In one of the smallest yoyos, starting in the center of the raw edges put your needle in a small amount of the fabric pulling the thread leaving the loop for your needle to go through it. Go through the loop. Now that you have secured your thread, you keep stacking the yoyos from the smallest to the largest yoyo. Go through the center of each yoyo with the gathered side up to smallest one. Pull them tight. Go back down to the top yoyo and tie your thread off but don't cut it.

Step 3: If you cut your thread knot your thread and bury the knot about 3 yoyos down and go to the top yoyo. Add the head bead to your thread. Then take your ribbon and hold the ends to find the middle of your loop of ribbon. Go through the base loop of the ribbon with the needle going crosswise. Basically taking a small amount of the ribbon to anchor your ribbon. Go back down your head bead so your ribbon will pull through the bead. Pull the thread as tight as you can and tie it off on the your decided yoyo.

Step 4: Tie another knot up on the ends of the ribbon to be able to hang your Angel.

Step 5: Take both of your tulle pieces and baste with the same thread in the middle of the tulle, gather it down, and pull it tight. Knot off the thread but don't cut it.

Step 6: Attach the wings around the 3rd one from the top. Bury your thread in the body of your angel and tie it off.

Step 7: Glue your head to the body so it is more stable. I hung it up and put a clothespin to keep it tight on the body.

You have finished your angel!
